

Helena Canhão, MD,PhD. Professor of Medicine, Faculty of Medical Sciences, Nova university of Lisbon, Visiting Professor of Epidemiology, National School of Public Health, Nova university of Lisbon, Responsible for the Rheumatology Unit, CHULC-Hospital Santo António dos Capuchos and Coordinator of the Rheumatology Unit of The CUF Tejo Hospital.

Is President of the Portuguese Society of Rheumatology.

Graduated, PhD and Aggregated in Medicine (Rheumatology) from the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Lisbon, she also holds a Master's degree in Clinical Research from Harvard Medical School, Harvard University, USA.

Leads the EpiDoC Research Unit in Epidemiology and Clinical Research, CEDOC, Faculty of Medical Sciences and is coordinator of the FCT Research Unit, Comprehensive Health Research Center (CHRC).

Is also Chairman of the Advisory Board of AICIB and Chairman of the Advisory Board of the Value for Health Collaborative Laboratory.

Is a member of the Council of the New University of Lisbon, member of the Board of the Faculty of Medical Sciences of the New University of Lisbon and its Scientific Council.

Co-leader and Medical Responsible for the Patient Innovation Project and principal investigator of several national and international research projects.

She author's more than 200 peer-reviewed publications and books and book chapters in medicine, rheumatology, aging, innovation and clinical research.