

Magdalene Rosenmöller is senior lecturer in the Department of Production, Technology and Operations Management at IESE Business School. She teaches the second-year MBA elective course on health sector management and also in other management institutions across Europe, Latin America, Africa ) and Asia . – She is the Academic Director of CRHIM - the IESE Centre for Research in Health Innovation Management.

She holds a Ph.D. in health policy from the University of London, UK; an M.D. from the Louis Pasteur University of Strasbourg, France, and an MBA from IESE Business School, Spain. She has been working with the World Bank, the European Commission and the European Parliament among others. She has extensive experience in global health policy and health research issues. Currently she has a leading role in EIT Health, in the innovation, accelerator and education area. One of her favourite projects is WEHealth, the Women Entrepreneurship Health programme.